

Dear Friends,

Consider this: "I Am the Divine Human."

A wonderful affirmation of Truth and it is the title of my upcoming Sunday talk. I believe it is each person's work here in the physical realm, to integrate the truth of the divine human. The most wonderful opportunities for integration happen when we are confronted with an obstacle or a challenge that invites us to move into new, expansive territory. A choice presents itself here; will we walk the edge of our comfort zone where we are not so sure about ourselves? Humanly speaking, things can look daunting.

This is the exact place where the Divine Self shows up brilliantly when we call it forth. We will shine brightly as we make the decision to trust ourselves, to dare something new, to be compassionate in the fumbblings (that are sure to be experienced) and to demonstrate our strength and faith as we expand and grow!

I was in Las Vegas the past week with my husband Jim. We celebrated our fifteenth year of togetherness with a renewal of vows, in the midst of the raw beauty of the Nevada mountains. I felt grateful to visit Reverend Jim Lee and Lisa Lee, LUT at their spiritual center, Unity of Las Vegas. Jim gave a talk called "Divine Order In the Midst of Chaos". He told intriguing stories that demonstrated the truth that chaos is part and parcel of Divine Order; that one cannot happen without the other. It's the creation process!

I resonated with his message because I was experiencing that very thing! In the planning of our renewal ceremony there were big bumps we needed to navigate; uncertainty and chaos seemed to be in charge, yet beyond all the messiness there was an Orderly Intelligence present. We decided to stay calm, stay aware, keep thinking things through, keep communicating and navigating the flow...and voila!

We landed exactly where we needed to be, and with the right people to make powerful blessings manifest. Even Elvis showed up to bless us!! haha! That was a surprise! We created an experiential shift (like an earthquake) in our love commitment, a new playing field with expanded vistas where we see more clearly, trust easily and dare to evolve more readily!

So it is with each of you when you choose to live life more fully by courageously stretching your edge, going for whatever it is you want with gusto and commitment. When you decide to wield your Divine Power, staying with the process of your challenge, integrating the ups and downs, the human and divine, you will always get the blessings! You always WIN!

You will manifest your prayer. It's the law. The Law of Mind Action.

Blessings to you,
Marianne
